Today's Message Notes . . .

"One third of the world has yet to hear about Jesus, and most of them are living in the 10–40 window of Africa, Asia and Latin America," says Andre Lesur, executive director of Global Disciples Canada (www.GlobalDisciples.ca).

Lesur believes spreading the gospel to these populations is entirely within reach. Not only that, but the Global Disciples network also has a mission model that costs a fraction of what it takes to send traditional missionaries... "We train local believers living near least-reached communities...We work through church clusters – two or three churches that have some sort of relationship. They understand the cultural nuances of the unreached province or village. They speak the same language, often the same dialect. They are our best solution to reach their neighbours."
